Welcome to South!

Dear Friends,

Are you thinking about choosing new directions this Fall? Let us help you Shape Your Future with these classes:

- Acquire pottery skills in classes taught by our acclaimed professional teachers.
- Explore your passion for creating truffles with a master chocolatier in a hands-on class.
- Use your camera to capture holidays in photos, and shape clever holiday gifts.
- Explore Fall harvest in our wine tasting classes.
- Deepen your horticultural expertise as you prepare your garden for winter.
- Enhance your professional toolbox with our series of management and leadership workshops that address common workplace snags with useful techniques and solutions.
- Shape your computer abilities in on-campus classes with our highly-praised instructors or choose our flexible online courses.

We are also excited to offer you a new collaboration this Fall as South Seattle College Continuing Education (CE) introduces partnerships with the CE programs at North and Seattle Central Colleges. This collaboration will make more courses available to you at different times and locations to meet your scheduling needs. Look for the C/N note for classes offered by our partners.

Shape your future this Fall by looking at all your options!

Warm Regards,

Luisa Motten

Director of Continuing Education

MEET ROSS JOHNSON!

What do you do at South Seattle College?

I am the Banquet Chef in charge of catering at the Brockey Center on the South campus. I've been part of the South Seattle College community for over 14 years, and am thrilled not only to have discovered the joy of working here, but also to have developed new interests by taking a variety of classes offered at South.

For you, what are the advantages of taking Continuing Education classes at South?

Continuing Education classes are fun, educational, and a great place to meet interesting people with shared interests. Advantages? There are many: A wide variety of classes, excellent instructors, convenient class times, and reasonable prices. Lately, I've been taking Italian language classes which not only help improve my Italian language skills, but also teach me a lot about the cuisine, culture, music, and art of Italy along with plenty of invaluable travel tips.

What would you recommend to someone thinking about taking a Continuing Education class at South?

The cool thing about taking Continuing Education classes is all the choices and opportunities available. Whether you want to take a class to help improve your skills for the job market or just want to take a class for fun, there is something for everyone. Where else can you work and stay after for personal enrichment?
