Did You Know?

Did you know ... Cary park provides a social environment?

Bark, Wag, Sniff and Socialize? That's right Cary's Dog Park isn't just a place to take your pup to play, it is also an excellent place to meet friends and build relationships. The bond between an owner and their pet can't be denied, but at the dog park another bond is being formed. Dogs get the opportunity to connect with friends and interact with other humans, but the experience goes beyond dogs; it is also place for human interaction. One thing that tends to bond people is when they have similar taste, the fact that people can connect on the grounds of being dog lovers offers a chance for new friendships to be formed. Cary's Dog Park, located at Robert V. Godbold Park, offers the opportunity for people to network and animals to play. Essentially, the people at the park become a second family. Everyone looks out for each other and for all their furry friends. There are also Bark Ranger volunteers, to make sure rules are obeyed, people and dogs are safe, and that the "neighborhood" is looked after. So join the family and let this be your best friend's second home.

Did you know... There are multiple purposes to public art in Cary?

Looking around Cary often gets people thinking, what is with all of the decorations. Often the small town charm associated with Cary comes from the people, the pride in the town and of course all the rich culture, which includes public art. But, don't get caught up in all its beauty, understand the meaning behind the art. Cary's Public art serves many purposes. Some pieces serve as a system to find your way around town, some connect you to the past, some enrich the experience, and some offer safety. Look at how art has now been extended into Cary's transit system, connecting the C-Tran with art. Around the town on 6 of the bus routes, Cary has contracted artist, Susan Harbage Page, to design bus shelter art in order to provide a way to easily recognize each route. These shelters use innovation and creativity as it connects the transit system to Cary's history. Each of the designs are derived from patterns within several historical landmarks: the Page-Walker Hotel, the Evans Home, Nancy Jones Home, and the AM Howard Farm. In addition, each one of these shelters use solar panels to provide lighting for the security at night. This project will improve public transportation and bring history and art to everyday life. The next time you are driving around town, notice all the art but discover what other purposes that are being served.

PREREQUISITE REQUIRED?

Some of our Teen Ceramic Arts courses require a prerequisite, which is generally noted at the end of a course description. The prerequisite requirement is placed on those courses in which the student must have completed the basic or beginning course to participate. A prerequisite makes certain that all participants in the advanced or intermediate level courses have the minimum skill level needed to participate to the fullest in the course. It also eliminates the need for the instructor to re-teach the basics. Please contact Cary Arts Center staff for more information.

Courses filling most of the prerequisites in Teen Ceramic Arts must have been taken at Jordan Hall Arts or Cary Arts Center. They are as follows: Wheel Watchers, Teen Pottery Exploration, Kids at the Wheel.

Those who have taken the Kids at the Wheel II with Raku may sign-up for the Raku Firing with parental permission.

For details, call (919) 469-4069

Since 1980, the Town of Cary has been building greenways to bring open spaces within easy walking distance to Cary's neighborhoods. Greenways are an environmental, economic and recreational resource for all to enjoy. Currently there are over 50 miles of greenways that link to neighborhoods, parks and schools. The majority of the trails are paved and are generally located in floodplain areas and along wooded stream corridors.

Cary greenways and trails are open from sunrise to sunset. The standard greenway trail is 10-foot-wide asphalt. Keep in mind when trying to locate a greenway trail that parking is not always provided and parking on streets is required to access many trails. Please be considerate of private property nearby when parking. For additional information, see the rules and regulations section.

Greenways enhance our lives in many ways by:

- Providing a recreational amenity for walking, jogging, and bicycling in a natural setting remote from traffic;
- Preserving pristine open space to enhance Cary's quality of life;
- Linking our neighborhoods with parks, schools, community centers, and other neighborhoods;
- Helping to control stormwater runoff, curb erosion, and minimize flooding which can damage our property;
- Improving Cary's water quality by buffering streams, filtering pollutants, and recharging our groundwater;
- Adding value to our property by merit of proximity.

Parks are for People and Pets on Leash

Did You Know? Town Ordinance requires that pets stay on leash whether you are visiting a park or walking a greenway. Keep your pet and others safe by observing the law.

Get the Scoop on Poop
Pet owners are required by law to clean up after their pets. When you take your pet outside grab a bag and scoop the poop.

For a detailed map of the Parks and Greenways in Cary, pick up a copy of the Bike & Hike Map at any Town of Cary Facility or visit online.

You will feel the ambiance of the Town a century ago as you view a scale model of the village, meet Cary's founding family, and learn about the Union general from Ohio for whom our Town was named. A detailed growth chart enables you to see the development of the Cary community from a one square mile area in 1871 to a fifty-five square mile area in 2009. A time line, comprised of two and three-dimensional artifacts, provides historic perspective by juxtaposing national and international events with significant happenings in Cary.

Your ideas are welcome! We have developed "Cary-on!," a study guide for teachers and students who are interested in learning more about Cary. "Cary-osity," a DVD depicting the history of Cary, is available to introduce schools, civic organizations and newcomers to the Town. Ongoing programs link the past to the present and help us to imagine the future.

Be a part of the Cary Heritage Museum by training to lead tours for children and adults. For more, call (919) 460-4963.

The Page-Walker Arts & History Center is alive with classes, events, performances, meetings, receptions and exhibitions. The center also supports two fine arts galleries featuring local and regional artists' works, a library which serves as a resource center for the works of Walter Hines Page, rooms decorated with period furniture, and the original Page Smokehouse and Herb Garden.

Walking Tour — Heart of Cary

Discover our community's past through its architecture as you stroll through the heart of Cary. Guided walking tours begin with a visit to the Page-Walker Hotel (1868) and Cary Heritage Museum. Discover the roots of Cary's amazing growth. Learn about the homes, churches, schools and commercial buildings which represent architectural styles of the past century.

Tours are scheduled by appointment. Please contact the Page-Walker at (919) 460-4963 for information and rates on group and private tours.
